

dirty laundry

a theatrical production

“What a BRILLIANT presentation!!!”

Rachel Cooper, PhD, Psychology, Nanaimo BC

“This is no ordinary piece of theatre, but a solo flight by an intrepid soul.”

Garry Davey, Director & Actor, Gabriola Island BC

“Congratulations!! A very brave and creative offering.”

Colin Funk, KIAS School of Visual Arts, Dawson City, Yukon

“Dirty Laundry is thought provoking, . . . stimulating, . . . spell-binding!”

Irene Martina, Author of “Dream Talks”, Edmonton AB

“Thanks for the courage and chutzpah to perform this incredible piece of drama . . . ”

Moyra Mulholland, Ph.D, Theatre, BSCCA (retired), Gabriola Island BC

Judy’s life was unravelling . . . from the inside.

Since childhood she had fought the blackness, and now she was losing the battle. It had to be kept secret or else she would lose her job, her husband and two boys . . . everything. The personas Judy created to cope were not enough anymore. She could no longer do what was expected of her . . . it was all too heavy a burden.

The sadness in her soul was more than she could take, and Judy wanted to die. But was that really to be her destiny??

No friggin’ way!

-----

Dirty Laundry is an engaging, poignant, and thought provoking tale dealing with a health issue affecting hundreds of thousands of Canadians everyday. This theatrical production invites the audience to witness an intimate struggle and the human spirit’s ultimate triumph in a woman’s heroic lifelong journey into, through, and out of mental illness. It is a true story.